The issuance of Law No. 6/2014 about this village gives certainty the existence of the village in the allocation of funds provided by the government, in order to promote public and community empowerment. The village government will acquire the village fund allocation from the State Budget in the amount of 10% of the state budget during the year. This budget allocation is used to hold the village authority in the frame of autonomy, in order to achieve the objectives that have been determined by the maximum utilization. This thesis issues regarding: how the legal regulation of the Law 6/2014 in the allocation of funds for the village and how the result/impact of the application of Law No. setting 6/2014 in allocating funds for the village.

Method studies were using normative juridical approach. Data used in the form of secondary data collected through the study of literature and have binding legal force, which consists of a primary raw material, secondary law and tertiary legal materials. Then processed through the identification process, editing, classification of data is analyzed qualitatively.

Based on the results of the study showed that the expected development in the village is getting better and capable of prospering rural communities with the maximum utilization of funds allocation. Thus it is not impossible if the villagers who are in poverty can be reduced and may even be able to compete with other rural communities or even the global community in general. In the application of the arrangements for allocating funds for this village, there should be a rule sanctions are regulated more clearly from the process of allocation of state budget funds to village through RKUD to RKD, because it could be the delay in the distribution of funds allocation there are certain elements the game in order to get the benefit so deviation occurs village funds .
