ABSTRACT

INCREASING MOTIVATION, ACTIVITIES AND SOCIAL SCIENCE LEARNING THROUGH COOPERATIVE LEARNING MODEL TYPE STAD IN JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL YPI 2 METRO YEAR 2010/2011

By
Nurbaiti

Learning ini school is series of even that lead to the achievement of goals. The goal is to students Maturity, both in terms of physical, science and spiritual maturity. To achieve all of that then a certain standard must be based learning that is student achievement standards. Exam school is to recognize on for learning achievement and it is one of the graduation requirements. The description above shows that the educational level curriculum (KTSP) elementary and secondary education organized by the education unit based on the guidelines developed by national standars bodies (BSNP).

The purpose of this observation is: (1) Determine the level of student motivation through STAD model application. (2) find the model STAD in enhancing learning activities. (3) Determine the STAD model of the boost student learning outcomes. This study was conducted in JHS YPI 2 Metro by using the subject as many as 34 students a class VIII A.

1) To collect data in this observation, used test methods, and other observation methods. Based on the analysis and discussion by using data reduction step, data presentation and conclusion it can be concluded that: Application of STAD Cooperative learning model by reporting the results of the group work in the group at standards of competency (SK) Know the social deviation, and understanding the factors that influence students of class VIIIA JHS YPI 2 Metro school year 2010/2011.

2) Application of STAD Cooperative learning model by giving different tasks for each group on the standarts of competency (SK) Know the social deviation, and understanding the factors that influence students of class VIIIA JHS YPI 2 Metro school year 2010/2011.

3) Application of STAD Cooperative learning model by giving different tasks for each group and report on the work in batches around between groups of standard of competency (SK) Know the social deviation, and understanding the factors that influence students of class VIIIA JHS YPI 2 Metro school year 2010/2011.