

ABSTRACT

LEGAL PROTECTION AGAINST HOUSEHOLD HELPER IN BANDAR LAMPUNG CITY

BY

FRAN RADY

Law 13 of 2003 on Labour not to include domestic workers in the system of general legislation regarding legal protection for domestic workers. Because domestic workers are considered to be employed by "employers", they are not given the protection provided by the law against other workers. In the legislation employment of domestic workers has not been regulated in detail about the basic terminology of domestic workers. But the ILO insists that domestic workers formerly known as housekeeper already recognized and regarded as labor. Formulation of the problem in this research is: What is the pattern of legal relations housemaid with employers? How is legal protection of domestic workers in the city of Bandar Lampung. This research is empirical normative.

Measures conducted by researchers to conduct research is to seek informants in the Department of Labor in Bandar Lampung, to obtain the data subject of study that really suit the characteristics of the study subjects, namely the employer and the housemaid. The process of data collection is done with the interview. Data was analyzed using descriptive way to describe or depict qualitative data generated from field research in the form of an explanation in a systematic way.

Results obtained Authors of this study that: (1) The pattern of the relationship between domestic workers and employers much conditioned in familial relationships, which in many cases could obscure the relationship employment relationship between domestic workers and employers. (2) the legal protection of domestic workers is not currently running in the city of Bandar Lampung because: (a) Law No. 13 Year 2013 on Employment has not completely set on domestic workers. (B) There are no special rules governing the PRT. (C) Monitoring conducted by the Department of Labor in Bandar Lampung has not been optimal. (D) Agent PRT dealer in Bandar Lampung has not been registered in the Department of Labor in Bandar Lampung. (E) The absence of a complaint for domestic services. (F) Lack pengetahuan owned by the PRT.

Keywords: Protection Legal, PRT, Bandar Lampung City