This study aims to determine and explain the process of post-marriage ta'aruf and analyze the barriers facing and problem-solving strategies in the post ta'aruf couples married in the Prosperous Justice Party cadres. The method used in this study is qualitative. The research was conducted at the couple PKS cadres in the village Gedong Air, Western District of Cape Coral, City of Bandar Lampung, the informant as much as four pairs of the Prosperous Justice Party cadres captured with a snowball technique (Snowball Sampling). The data in this study were collected by interviews and literature study. Data analysis techniques in this study through three phases, namely data reduction, data presentation and drawing conclusions.

These results indicate that the process of post ta'aruf married couples is the Prosperous Justice Party cadres to know each other a process of self of each partner and ta'aruf with the environment and ta'aruf with a large family on both sides. Ta'aruf process after the couple married in the Prosperous Justice Party cadres are more oriented to provide care to the love between husband and wife through a series of efforts to unite the two into a cohesiveness that complement each other and accept and appreciate each other. In this case is determined by the process ta'aruf between husband and wife where there is a phase adjustment character and quality of interaction partners as well as the key to domestic harmony in a family that sakinah mawaddah wa Rahmah. Ta'aruf to the environment done by engaging in activities that exist in the neighborhood and help each other and share with the neighbors. While ta'aruf with a large family on both sides carried out with each other and establish relationships with each of the families who have differences such as different cultural backgrounds, different perspectives, and different lifestyles.

Obstacles encountered in the process of post-marriage ta'aruf is (a) difficulty in adjusting the character of each pair is different, (b) patterns of interaction / communication with different partners, (c) The difficulty in establishing relationships with extended family on both sides , where a person's level of social freedom is different. There is an easy entry FRAGILE larger, but some are not able to quickly enter the FRAGILE. Strategies in solving problems that occur in the process of post-marriage ta'aruf is to customize and integrate different characters with a partner, to know each other and understand the communication patterns of each partner and provide insight and understanding in building relationships with extended family on both sides.
