Let' Me Love You

Once upon a time, there was once a guy who was very much in love with this girl. This romantic guy folded 1,000 pieces of paper cranes as a gift to his girl. Although, at that time he was just a small executive in his company, his future doesn't seem too bright, they were very happy together. Until one day, his girl told him she was going to Paris and will never come back. She also told him that she cannot visualize his future for the both of them, so let's go their own ways there and then...heartbroken, the guy cried.

When he regained his confidence, he worked hard day and night, just to make something out of himself. Finally with all these hard work and with the help of friends, this guy did set up his own company.

"You never fail until you stop trying." he always told himself. "I must make it in life!" One day, while this guy was driving, he saw an elderly couple sharing an umbrella in the rain walking to some destination. Even with the umbrella, they were still drenched. It didn't take him long to realize those were his ex-girlfriend's parents. With a heart in getting back at them, he drove slowly beside the couple, wanting them to spot him in his luxury saloon. He wanted them to know that he wasn't the same anymore, he had his own company, car, condo, etc. He had made it in life!

Before the guy can realize, the couple was walking towards a cemetery, and he got out of his car and followed them...and he saw his ex-girlfriend, a photograph of her smiling sweetly forever at him from her tombstone... and he saw his precious paper cranes in a bottle placed beside her tomb. Her parents saw him. He walked over and asked them why this had happened. They explained that she did not live for France at all. She was stricken ill with cancer. In her heart, she had believed that he would make it someday, but she did not want her illness to be his obstacle...therefore she had chosen to leave him.

She had wanted her parents to put his paper cranes beside her, because, if the day comes when fate brings him to her again he can take some of those back with him. The guy just left.

A widow loved her own ugly and pleasant daughter just as much as she disliked her lovely, kind stepdaughter. She made the stepdaughter do all the hardest work in the house and the girl obeyed her without complaint.

One day, the stepmother sent her out to the well to get water and there she met an old woman who asked her for a drink. The kind young girl served the old woman as if she were a queen. In truth that old woman was a fairy in disguise and she was so moved by the young girl's kindness that she rewarded her with an extraordinary gift, every time she spoke, from her lips, along with the words, fell flowers and diamonds.

The stepmother was furious when she heard what had happened to her stepdaughter. Immediately she sent her own daughter to the well, so that she could come back with the same gift. This time, the fairy appeared in the form of queen. But when she asked for a drink, the young woman said rudely, "if you want a drink, get yourself".

"You are most unkind", said the fairy, "and for that I will give you a very different reward".
