

ABSTRACT

ANALYSIS OF ORIGINAL REGIONAL REVENUE (PAD), THE GENERAL ALLOCATION FUND (DAU), CAPITAL EXPENDITURES AND THEIR IMPACT ON REGIONAL ECONOMIC GROWTH IN LAMPUNG PROVINCE

By

SITI FATIMAH

This study aims to test and prove empirically the effect of original regional revenue (PAD), the General Allocation Fund (DAU), capital expenditures and their impact on regional economic growth. The population of this research is the local government district and city in the province of Lampung as many as 15 districts / cities, and which meet the criteria in the sample were 10 districts / cities, so the number of observations were analyzed to 80. The data used is data panel the realization of PAD, DAU and capital expenditures in the districts / cities in Lampung province from 2005 to 2012 and GDP at constant prices to see economic growth form 2006 to 2013. The data is sourced from Supreme Audit Board of Indonesia and the Central Bureau of Statistics province Lampung. Testing is done with Multiple Regresion Linear Analysis. The analysis showed that PAD, DAU, and Capital expenditure have simultaneous impact on economic growth, PAD and DAU have a significant positive impact economic growth, capital expenditures has a significant negative impact on economic growth.

Keywords: Original Regional Revenue, General Allocation Fund, Capital Expenditures, Economic Growth