ABSTRACT

FACTORS AFFECTING FERTILITY RATE IN THE FAMILY IN SUKARAME VILLAGE, SUKARAME DISTRICTS, BANDAR LAMPUNG CITY

by

Pandiawan

This research’s goal is to identify how much influence factors the mother’s education level, employment status of the mother, the mother’s age at first marriage, use of contraceptives, and the rate of family income on fertility. This research did in Sukaram Village, Sukaram District, Bandar lampung.

This type of research is explanation quantitative approach. The sample of research 97 household. Data collection techniques in this researchs is questionnaires dan documentation, while the data analysis was done by analysis of frequency tables and multiple linear regression analysis through processing program of the statistical data, that called SPSS.

The result of multiple linear regression analysis indicates that the variable determinat R Square as big as 0,324 or as big as to 32%. From 5 independent variables research, only variable that affects the use of contraceptives significantly. While the independent variable the mother’s education level, employment status of the mother, the mother’s age at first marriage, use of contraceptives, and the rate of family income doesn’t influence significantly the rate of fertility.

Keywords: fertility, mother education, employment status, age at marriage, use of contraceptives.