The number of cases of marine pollution is the case today illustrates the lack of government supervision and protection of the environment. One case of marine pollution that occurred in the District Pesawaran mutun Beach. Pollution caused by loading and unloading activities of diesel fuels that threaten the environment. Solar loading and unloading activities are managed by PT Nusantara with the type of business Tripatra placement of fuel storage tanks. Based on the description above, it is an issue of concern in this study are: a) How does law enforcement against companies that pollute the environment in the District Pesawaran mutun Beach? b) Is the limiting factor in law enforcement against companies that pollute the environment in the District Pesawaran mutun Beach?

Approach to the problem used in this study is normative. Source data using primary and secondary data. Data collection method used is literature study and field study. The data processing is done with the selection process, clarification, and compilation of data.

Based on the results of research and wording that are: a) law enforcement on the loading activities that impact of environmental pollution on mutun Coast region has not been penalized in any form. Parties to the Environment Agency did not impose sanctions against PT.Tripatra archipelago because of not holding the test of environmental quality standards. According to the Environment Agency environmental damage can not be done simply by assuming alone, but must be carried out laboratory tests based on environmental quality standards. Under Law No. 32 of 2009 on Environmental Protection and Management of the Environment Agency should impose sanctions considering the impact of the fuel unloading has shown signs of water pollution, such as discoloration of the water becomes black and smelly. b) The factors inhibiting the implementation of law enforcement on the activities of loading and unloading of fuel that occurred in Beach mutun, the limited funds budgeted by the Government of Pesawaran, inadequate facilities and infrastructures that exist, and Human Resources (HR) in particular field supervisors and officers examiner is still limited. Pesawaran District Government should provide facilities and infrastructure to support the activities in overcoming environmental pollution.
