"Never cared for what they say, never cared for games they play, never cared for what they do, never cared for what they know, and I know that life is struggle and so beautiful"

"All that's glitters is not gold"

"The importance of everything is not only to know something but to carry out what is known"