The operation of democracy chieftain election is supposed to administered the demodracy values ( deliberation and participation). Based on the law of the land number 32 in 2004 about local government and the rule of government number 72 in 2005 about village, it states that the administration of village government is administered with the rule of democracy and the behaviour of the society itself. The implementation of democracy values of chieftain election in 2007 at Desa Marga Dadi is not administered yet.

The problem of this research is, how is the implementation of democracy values of the chieftain election at Desa Marga Dadi kecamatan Jati Agung Kabupaten Lampung Selatan in 2007. The objective of this research is to know the process of implementation of democracy values of the chieftain election at Desa Marga Dadi Kecamatan Jati Agung Kabupaten Lampung Selatan. The research is qualitative research. Data collecting technique are done by interview and documentation. The data analysis are done by editing and data interprete and then the data are analyzed by data reduction technique, persentation and verification.

The result of the research shows that the implementation of democracy values of the chieftain election in 2007 at Desa Marga Dadi Kecamatan Jati Agung Kabupaten Lampung Selatan is already administered, but it is not optimal yet. It is proven in deliberation step, there are so many people from the society that do not get involve, it because of they do not get any announcement for it. While, in participation step, there are many problems come from the society. It is proven by the lack of participation from the people, it because of the people do not understand the importance of participation in democracy. The people also pretend that the deliberation is only for the competence peolpe not for them.
