

ANALYSIS OF THE STRUCTURE ECONOMIC AND IDENTIFICATION BASE SECTOR IN SOUTHERN LAMPUNG DISTRICT BEFORE AND AFTER EXPANSION AREA

ABSTRACT

by

M. FERDIANSYAH, AF

Splitting of a region equally harmful to changes in the structure of the economy. The enable economic development is focuses on the secondary or tertiary sectors. The availability of resources is a potential for the development of the region, especially in the economic sector. South Lampung is a region in the province of Lampung focused on regional expansion. Further study is required in determining the development policy area that has experienced a regional expansion , namely South Lampung. So, the purpose of this research was to analyze the economic structure in South Lampung regency before and after the splitting of the region and to identify sectors of the economy become the leading sectors/base. The methods of data collection was obtained through secondary data . Data obtained in the form of qualitative and quantitative data. The qualitative analysis presented descriptively, while the quantitative data processed using the Shift - Share (SS) and Location Quotien (LQ). Based on the analysis of SS obtained South Lampung Regency of economic structural changes occurred after the splitting of the region . Tertiary sector of the economy dominated by the service sector and through the contribution of the industry . Followed by the secondary sector and primary sector in third . The result of the growth component analysis showed that the region 's economic growth Lampung bring a positive influence on PDRB changes in South Lampung regency. The analysis of LQ showed that before and after the expansion of South Lampung district basis, there are 6 sectors namely: agriculture, the sector of electricity, gas and water sector, building/construction , transportation and communication sector and the services sector. Thus the South Lampung regency economy supported by the primary sector and the development sector has a well-developed base .

Keywords: location quotient, regional divisions, base sector, shift share