

ABSTRACT

Associated Factors With Contraceptive Type Selection In Bidan Praktek Swasta Midwife Norma Gunung Sugih Village

By

Akhmad Rifkie Arief

The rate of population growth in Indonesia is growing fast, despite having a large number of people but the quality of Indonesia's population is still low. The government has tried to anticipate the rapid population growth rate is in many ways, one of which is to declare family planning program (KB). The implementation of family planning are still experiencing barriers one contraceptive option for women who are so diverse that make family planning as if it is a problem for women.

This study aims to determine the factors related to the choice of contraception. Place this research is in Bidan Praktek Swasta Midwife Norma Gunung Sugih Village. This is the type of research analytic study, using cross sectional approach. The population in this study is the population are all acceptors in Bidan Praktek Swasta Midwife Norma Gunung Sugih Village, Central Lampung in 2013. The number of samples in this study amounted to 79 people with a sampling technique with simple random sampling method. Data was collected through questionnaire-guided interview.

From the analysis using chi-square test showed that there was a significant relationship between knowledge, education, attitude, health infrastructure, number of children, encouragement by the couple with the choice of contraception ($p < 0.05$).

Keywords: factors, types of contraception, family planning.