ABSTRACT

The Utilization Instructional Media Newspapers Effect in Increasing Motivation and Learning Activities On Learning Achievement Economics Student Class X SMA Negeri 1 Pagelaran 2012/2013

By

ERLIZA SEPTIA NAGARA

This research aims to determine the utilization of instructional media newspapers effect in increasing motivation and activities on learning achievement economics student class X SMA Negeri 1 Pagelaran. The method is ex post facto. The population 250 students with a sample size of 154 students, taken with the proporsional random sampling. Research data related to the utilization of instructional media newspapers, motivation and activities is obtained through a questionnaire, while the learning achievement is documentation. Hypothesis was analized using path analysis.

The results showed that there was a significant effect of: (1) utilization of instructional media newspapers on motivation; (2) utilization of instructional media newspapers on activity; (3) motivation on learning achievement; (4) activities on learning achievement; (5) utilization of instructional media newspapers on learning achievement; (6) utilization of instructional media newspapers and motivation on learning achievement; (7) utilization of instructional media newspapers and activities on learning achievement.

Key word: intructional media, motivation, activities, and learning achievement