Supervision is understood as the activities carried out in order for a job effectively and efficiently in accordance with a predetermined plan. So of course the phenomena that occur in the field related to the National Community Empowerment Program Mandiri Rural reflect that indirectly affect the effectiveness of supervision of the National Program for Community Empowerment Mandiri Rural.

The problem in this study is how much influence supervision of the Community Sector and Governance Empowerment Village on the implementation of the National Community Empowerment Program Mandiri Rural Sub-District Menggala Tulang Bawang. The research objective was to determine the magnitude of the effect supervision of the Community Sector and Governance Empowerment Village on the implementation of the National Community Empowerment Program (PNPM) Rural District in District Menggala Tulang Bawang.

The method used in this study is the method of explanation, because in this study using two variables. Explanatory method is a method of research that describes the two variables studied, namely the independent variable and the dependent variable are then explained the relations between the two variables. Data analysis techniques used in this study is the analysis using simple linear regression analysis.

The based on the results of the discussion can be concluded that the results of simple linear regression analysis between the independent variables (government control) with the dependent variable (the implementation of the PNPM-Mandiri Rural), indicate a significant effect. In other words there is a significant effect between independent variables and the dependent variable. This implies that the supervision carried out, and then the implementation of PNPM-Mandiri Rural District in District Menggala Garlic Bones will run with targeted, according to a predetermined plan.
