Good Corporate Governance is basically a system (input, process, output) and a set of rules governing the relationship between the various parties (stakeholders), especially in the narrow sense of the relationship between shareholders, board of commissioners, and the board of directors for the achievement of corporate objectives.

The selection of the sample in this study using a purposive sampling method. The importance of the 46 companies included in the sample for the implementation of corporate governance ranking or survey on the implementation of the corporate governance of public companies listed on the Stock Exchange conducted by the Indonesian Institute for Corporate Governance (IICG).

These results indicate that corporate governance, ownership structure, independent directors, audit committee and firm size significantly affect disclosure.
