Efforts to eradicate corruption requires the participation of the community, both as a whistleblower and justice collaborator. The problem of this research are (1) What is the legal protection toward whistleblower and justice collaborator in corruption case? (2) Why the inhibiting factors in the legal protection toward whistleblower and justice collaborator in corruption case?

This research uses normative juridical approach, with the type of secondary data. Data processing is done with the selection of data, data classification and compilation of data. Furthermore juridical analyzed qualitatively.

Results of research and discussion concluded: (1) Legal protection for whistleblower and justice collaborator in corruption case conducted by: Providing relief criminal or other forms of protection in accordance with the protection of witnesses and victims; Putting the case handling whistleblower and justice collaborator if the parties reported or reported to report back; Dropping a special trial for the criminal justice collaborator or criminal trial lightest among the defendants were involved in corruption by considering the sense of justice. (2) The factors that impede legal protection against whistleblower and justice collaborator in a corruption case is: still not strong mechanism for the protection of witnesses and victims; law enforcement officers are still not optimal in providing protection; unavailability of adequate means to provide protection; the persistence of fear or reluctance of society to be a witness in the law enforcement process against the perpetrators of corruption and the attitude of individualism in society, so that they are indifferent and does not care if aware of the perpetrators of corruption.

Suggestions in this study were: (1) Legal protection for whistleblower and justice collaborator in corruption cases should be implemented optimally and improve coordination among law enforcement agencies with the relevant institutions. (2) It should soon be revision of legislation in the field of legal protection against whistleblower and justice collaborator.
