PT Gwang-Ju Palm Indonesia is one of nearly all corporate in Way Kanan Regency that continuously being harassed for its plantation's land by suspected people with land's derivation being main motive which then triggered reclaiming the same land and/or purchasing and selling the unlawful rights, resulted into overlapped occupation in the field. Issues in this study are: (1) Why did annexation of PT Gwang-Ju Palm Indonesia's plantation land happened; (2) Why did obstacles occurred on criminal-law enforcement of PT Gwang-Ju Palm Indonesia plantation's land annexation; (3) How is the prospective in criminal-law enforcement on PT Gwang-Ju Palm Indonesia's plantation land annexation.

The research methods in this study were using normative juridical and empirical juridical to achieve primary and secondary data to be analyzed.

The result of this study are: (1) The causes of PT Gwang-Ju Palm Indonesia's plantation land annexation were due to social, economy, politics factors in society, land's occupation and ownership factors, regulation, bureaucracy, law enforcement factors; (2) The obstacles of criminal-law enforcement on PT Gwang-Ju Palm Indonesia's plantation land annexation was occurred due to internal and external factors; (3) Prospective in criminal-law enforcement on PT Gwang-Ju Palm Indonesia's plantation land annexation can be settled by penal mediation in two ways; through pure condemnation for suspected people who met the legal proofs doing annexation and/or any illegal activities with, and through diversion in police's discretion for those who became collateral victims.

Suggestion in this study was mainly to the law enforcers, should determine and classify the roots of the criminal case, especially in the terms of plantation's land issue, and dare to perform affirmative law enforcement, purely for certain cases and through discretion for light cases or those can be settled through mediation or reconciliation, as the spirit of restorative justice.
