The internal control system functions to safeguard organizational assets, check the accuracy and reliability of accounting data, encourage efficiency, and encourage compliance with management policies. In the era of globalization with rapid development, it requires the internal control system in a company to run well to achieve the company's goals. Therefore, KJA Astrid Faradisty and Partner Accounting Firm must improve its internal control system in operating the receipt of financial report compilation services. This final report aims to evaluate the implementation of the internal control system at KJA based on the COSO Internal Control—Understanding and Implementing The New Framework. The research method used is descriptive qualitative by conducting interviews, observations, and documentation as data collection techniques. The results of the observation show that of the five components of internal control based on the COSO framework applied by KJA Astrid Faradisty and Partner Accounting Firm, not all have been implemented completely. The inconsistency is mainly found in the control activities component. This condition indicates that the internal control implemented by KJA has not been fully effective.
