By
ELSHA VENCA INDITTA

The aims of the researched is to elaborate the implementation of political rights of persons with disability in Bandar Lampung from the first election in 1955 until the last election in July 2014. Combination of legal analysis and empirical approach are used in this research. The research found that persons with disability have not been yet guaranted for its rights on choosing represetation. Beside that, the research also found that the country doesn't have a valid data on disability persons, thus resulting on the protection of political rights. At least, the lack of faults contribute to the implementation of political rights for disability persons.
