ABSTRACT

ANALYSIS OF GOVERNMENT POLICY DEVELOPMENT IN PUBLIC HEALTH CONCERN HEALTH self-finance TAMN KEDATON AND HEALTH CENTERS
(2004 – 2012)

By

Ari Teguh Haryono

The purpose of this study was to determine the effect of the variable cost of treatment, care, continuity of patient satisfaction with the development of self-financing community health centers in health centers and health centers Kedaton Tamin data used is primary data. hypothesis testing is done to test the approach of factor analysis and classical assumption by using SPSS 16.0.

Based on the results of hypothesis testing (T test) between the independent variables, namely the cost of treatment (X1), service (X2), patient satisfaction (X3) with the dependent variable is the development of community health centers (Y), can be known only service factor, these factors have a relationship significantly to the development of continuity of phc. While the cost of treatment along with factors of patient satisfaction factors had no significant effect in influencing the development of continuity clinic. Through this study suggested that the health center concerned about its development ministry, to stay ahead of the technology used, and the latter is the standard used in the health world.

Keywords: Cost of Treatment, Care, Patient Satisfaction and Continuity Ofhealth Center Development.