

MOTTO

Whatever we worship, short of God, is sure to be our undoing

(Mignon Mclaughin, 1960)