

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

Alhamdulillah, all praise goes to Him alone, Allaah aza wajalla, the Merciful, the beneficent. It is obviously that without Him, we are nothing. The writer is very grateful that Allaah has granted her such beautiful path of life journey. It is admitted that arranging such research paper is relatively tough for a college examination; but still, life ahead is indeed the most difficult exam. Eventually, by the wills of Allaah, this script is finally completed.

Entitled “A Comparative Study between Handwritten and Computer Text Essays on Raters’ Scores”, this script is dedicated to English Education Study Program, the Department of Language and Arts Education, Teacher Training and Education Faculty, Lampung University, as a partial fulfilment of the requirements for S-1 (bachelor degree).

The writer would like to address her sincere gratitudes to those who have mentored and gave constructive criticisms during the completion of this script. Prof. Patuan Raja, M.Pd., as her first advisor; Drs. Ramlan Ginting Suka, M.Pd., as her co- advisor, and Dr. Muhammad Sukirlan, M.A., as her examiner; not to mention her academic advisor, Prof. Cucu Sutarsyah, M.A and her Head of English Study Program, Ari Nurweni, M.A. She thanks them for being so friendly and encourage her to move on. May Allaah rewards all of them with jannah.

A bunch of thanks is delivered as well to Satria Adi Pradana, M.A. as the instructor of Literature class who has kindly permitted me to take samples from his class; and to the 3rd semester students of English Study Program, She did appreciate their efforts. She also thanks the six raters who have helped her in assessing the data; she really appreciated all their best works.

Behind the college life, the writer would like to express her everlasting gratitudes to her parents; her beloved father, Sarjono and mother, Rusiti for any prayer and support during her life span; not to mention her step mother, Siti Suparin, and her step father, Sumarto, for all supports they’ve shared. The writer does not want to forget any single support both financially and mentally shared by her very loved sister, Yuniati; she thanks Allaah for giving her such great sister. May Allaah loves her always. Her other siblings are gifts that Allaah has made her life more colorful. Esti Susanti, Kurnia Wati, Rino, the twins brother Rudi Kusuma & Redi Kusuma, and the little one Cika; they are just so cute and nice.

This time being is another side of the writer, where her life is almost perfected when she got married to her halal mate, Hendry Pratama. She thanks him for the sweetness of standing right next to her. Next, her lovely little prince, Ghozi Al-Ghifari who always cherishes her days. He is such cute and strong little boy since he used to accompany the writer in times of hardship; especially when she had to take a community engagement in a place far away from the town. She prays for his good state of health and faith.

The first two years of the writer's college life was such important landmark she shared the joy with her classmates. She should make a list of those important folks; Novi, Tias, Tuti, Milah, Myra, Desi, Nisa, Devina, Siska, Deva, Purwanti, Gestiana, Kiki, Istyaningsih, Reni, Berlinda, Epi, Anu, Ledy, Virnez, Diah, Indah, Annisa, Aryani, Eni, Atin, Azmi, Sule, Ali, Wira, Aji, Veri, Miftah, Ferdi, Mirwan, Rizka, Ma'ruf, etc. The time flew so fast that almost all of them have graduated two years faster than the writer herself. She will miss them all so much.

The dorm life also occupied the writer sweet moment during her college life. There were countless laughs and joys they spent the days at dorm. Mbak Eka who loved to sing in the bathroom, the oldest and also the funniest, Novi and Linda her room-mates, who have pleased to share the bed with her, Mbak Tika, Mbak, Nita, Mbak Nur, Mbak Hesti, Misri, Amel, Fau, Aristina, Indah, Tia, Cimut, Eti, Eri, Devi. She just love them all tons.

The writer's productive days at college was also filled with organization world. English Society (Eso) was one of them, the organization that met her with new challenges and where she spent extra efforts to involve actively in any activity. To all of the seniors she cannot mention one by one, to her comrades, she thanks them forever.

There was no better year than a year she spent in the U.S college. Therefore, she really wants to thank her international student advisor, her professors, her instructors, her Ugrad friends from all around the globe, her colleagues, her roommates, muslim sisters and brothers in the U.S, and the like. She thanks them all countless times for such beautiful year.

Finally, even a shop assistant deserves a sincere thank from the writer. Thank you for the nice help when the writer needed a highlighter to work on the revision. Not to mention the 'angkot' driver for dropping the writer from home to campus, thank you for the service. Next, staffs at the photocopy service, thank you for serving her and her drafts. Also, the campus cafeteria for serving her foods in times of hunger. There are still a lot of individuals she cannot mention one by one who have contributed to her life span. Without any disrespect, she thank them all so much. May Allaah keeps them in a good health.
