Since the Law number 32 in 2004 about the regional government had been prevailed, there are some parts of family planning conducts endorsed to regional government. However, there are also some of authorities conducted by the Family Planning Coordination Board (or BKKBN) of province government as a vertical institution.

The problem statement in this research is how do the roles of the Family Planning Coordination Board (BKKBN) in Lampung province in conducting the Family Planning program, and what are obstacles faced by BKKBN of Lampung province in conducting the Family Planning program.

This research uses a jurisdiction and empirical approaches. It uses primary and secondary data that are collected from literary study and study in the field. The collected data are processed with data selection, classification, and presentation. Data are analyzed descriptively.

The results show that the role of BKKBN of Lampung province in conducting the Family Planning program is purchasing contraception tools using fund from state income and expenditure budget (APBN), and purchasing structure and infrastructure for conducting the family Planning program using special allocation fund (DAK) from BKKBN of Lampung province. The obstacles are limited fund from regional income and expenditure (APBD) in fulfilling the contraception tool necessity so that the Family Planning program still depends on APBN's fund of BKKBN of Lampung province, the operational structure of Family Planning still uses the special allocation fund (DAK) of BKKBN of Lampung province, less extension and field officer sources, less extension to the cadres and birth control acceptors, less public understanding to the use of contraception methods for long term uses such as injection and pill to the hormone and organ of the body.
